Preface

This publication, The GED Testing Program: Policies and Centers combines two formerly separate publications: Official GED Centers and Bulletin No. 5, Policies of State-Level Departments of Education. The book is designed to provide the user with reference to the operation of the GED Testing Program on a state-by-state basis—requirements for issuance of credentials, minimum age for testing, requirements for retesting, method of applying, official transcripts, fees. The name and address of each state administrator is provided, along with a full listing of Official GED Centers and chief examiners for each state, territory, and province.

The GED Testing Program is now administered in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, U.S. territories, and the Canadian provinces and territories. Editions of the Tests are available in English, French, and Spanish.

The state-level departments of education and the GED Testing Service of the American Council on Education are jointly responsible for the operation and security of the GED Testing Program. The Tests are administered to qualified persons at approximately 2,500 Official GED Centers approved by the state-level departments of education. The credentials issued by state-level departments of eduction are official documents that are acceptable in the same manner as high school graduation diplomas.

Policies of State-Level Departments of Education (Bulletin No. 5), prior to the 1975 edition, contained policies of state departments of education under which local high schools are authorized to grant credit toward a high school diploma for various educational experiences acquired by active-duty military training or educational experiences: (1) United States Armed Forces Institute courses; (2) United States Armed Forces Institute subjective examinations; (3) high school courses offered through USAFI by cooperating colleges and universities; (4) Marine Corps Institute courses; (5) Coast Guard Institute courses; (6) basic or recruit training; and (7) service school training. The specific recommendations and credit allowances are contained in the eleventh edition (1972) of Bulletin No. 5 or may be obtained from the appropriate state departments of education, or the GED Testing Service of the American Council on Education.

The policies contained in the bulletin have been approved for publication by the respective departments of education and are the policies effective in late 1975. Changes in policies and State Administrator positions will be announced in the OEC Newsletter.

The staff of the GED Testing Service and the Office on Educational Credit gratefully acknowledge the cooperation and assistance of the departments of education, particularly the State Administrators, in the preparation of this publication.

2. Requirements for Issuance of Diploma:
   a. Minimum test scores: A standard score of 35 on each of the five tests and an average standard score of 45 on all five tests (total 225 points).
   b. Minimum age: 19.
   c. Residence: Applicant must be physically present to take the GED test in Arizona. Military personnel and veterans who were tested through the United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI), now DANTES, are eligible to apply for an Arizona Certificate if they were tested while stationed in Arizona, attended school in Arizona, or are residents of Arizona. These rules also apply to military personnel, veterans, and civilians who were or are being tested through the Washington, D.C. GED Testing Service. Results will be accepted from out-of-state Official GED Centers and a certificate issued only if the last civilian school of attendance was in Arizona and all requirements are met.

3. Minimum Age for Testing: Individuals 17 and 18 years of age are eligible for testing for the following reasons if appropriate requirements are met:

   (1) For employment, candidate must (a) have been out of school 12 months, (b) present a letter of recommendation from a responsible individual, (c) present a letter of parental or guardian approval (approval not required at 18), and (d) present a statement of request from a prospective or present employer.

   (2) For college or university admission, trade schools, licensing agencies, etc., candidate must (a) have been out of school 12 months or present a letter of recommendation from the principal and counselor of the last school attended, (b) present a letter of recommendation from a responsible individual, (c) present a letter of parental or guardian approval (not required at 18), and (d) present a letter of conditional acceptance from the respective school or agency for a 9th, 10th, 11th, or 12th grade level of achievement.

   (3) For entrance into the Armed Forces, (a) the chief examiner of an Official GED Center must receive a request in the form of a letter from a recruiting officer for each applicant asking admission of the applicant, and stating that the applicant meets all of the military requirements for induction, except for achieving satisfactory scores on the GED Test, (b) the recruiting officer must provide to the chief examiner a copy of a letter from the applicant's parent or guardian granting permission to enter the Armed Forces, and (c) in cases of 17-year-olds who have dropped out of school during the past year, the recruiting officer will provide to the chief examiner a letter from the applicant's former high school principal stating that the applicant has left school.

   (Scores will be forwarded as appropriate to employer, school or agency, or recruiting official, but examinee may not receive certificate until age 19 when all state requirements are met.)

4. Requirements for Retesting: 30 days after initial testing, an individual may retake any one or all tests to meet minimum standard GED scores for the grade level of equivalency desired. One retest is allowed for each test, provided applicant produces written evidence of additional tutoring or study. If the desired standards are not met on the retest, the candidate must take the entire battery after completion of an approved course of study and must present written evidence from a qualified instructor attesting to the applicant's readiness to pass the test. If all tests are not completed within 12 months of initial testing, all tests must be repeated and the initial fee paid again. It is recommended that the candidate take all tests at the same testing center.

5. Method of Applying: Applicants who have taken GED Tests through USAFI (DANTES) and who meet all requirements should request a military application card from the Department of Education. The application must also be verified and signed by an education officer or advisor. The completed application card must be sent to DANTES, 2318 South Park, Madison, Wisconsin 53713 with a request that the official GED transcript and application card be sent directly to the Arizona Department of Education.

The front side of the application must be completed by the applicant. The completed card should be forwarded to the GED Testing Service, One Dupont Circle, Washington, D.C. 20036, with a request to forward test results and completed card to the Arizona Department of Education. When a qualified applicant successfully passes the GED test at an out-of-state Official GED Center, a permanent application card should be requested from the Department of Education. This card must be completed, signed, and forwarded directly by the chief examiner to the Department of Education.

OFFICE ON EDUCATIONAL CREDIT

The Office on Educational Credit, which operates under the policy direction of the Commission on Educational Credit, has a general concern for educational credit policies and practices. The Office evaluates formal military training and makes recommendations for academic credit. The Office issues recommendations to colleges and universities regarding the College-Level Examination Program and military examination programs. From time to time it sponsors studies and national norming of examination programs such as CLEP. It is developing a national system for the evaluation of courses sponsored by business, industry, government agencies, unions, and voluntary and professional associations. The office is exploring the possibility of utilizing national and state certification, licensure, and registration programs as a means of awarding educational credit and is developing philosophical statements and definitions dealing with educational credit.

The activities of the GED Testing Service are totally self-supportive in that all income is generated from rental of test booklets and scoring stencils, sale of answer sheets and score reporting forms, and other testing services.
